

How to Wake Up in the Morning with Jace DeCory

Every morning, I guess I greet the universe, like I've been taught from my grandparents, that each day is a blessing, so when you wake up in the morning, you acknowledge it as your relative. And so that's what I do every morning. That's my prayers and my meditation and my thankfulness for being here on Mother Earth.